Earned Income Tax Credit for Tax Year 2008

The Earned Income Tax Credit for tax year 2008 lets some working families with children and some workers without children pay less Federal income tax or get money back.

How Much Will I Get?

- For workers between age 25 and 64 on 12/31/08 with no children, up to $438.
- For workers with one child, up to $2,917.
- For workers with more than one child, up to $4,824.

Can I Get My Money Fast?

Yes...There are 2 ways you can get your money quickly. Go to an IRS certified free tax preparer and pay nothing. OR, pay a tax preparer up to $200 and sometimes more to get your money fast. By going to an IRS certified free tax preparer, your refund will come to your bank account in 10 to 14 days.

Why pay someone to prepare your taxes when you can get it done for free?

- Taxable scholarship or fellowship grants that aren't reported on Form W-2
- Non-taxable foster care payments

* You can choose to include as earned income. See IRS Publication 3 for details.

How Much Money Can I Earn and Still Get the Earned Income Tax Credit?

• Workers With Children

You must have earned income during 2008 and your investment income can't be more than $2,950. The earned income could be from a business of your own or from someone paying you for work. Adjusted gross income must be less than $33,995 (or $36,995 for married filing jointly) if you have one qualified child. If you have two or more qualified children, adjusted gross income must be less than $38,646 (or $41,646 for married filing jointly).

You must check one box in each of the 3 parts below to qualify:

Part 1 - Child:

- son
- daughter
- adopted child
- grandchild
- stepchild
- foster child placed by an authorized government or private placement agency.
- cared for sister, brother, stepsister, stepbrother as you would your own child

The child doesn't have to be your dependent to be a qualifying child unless he or she is married.

Part 2 - How old at the end of 2008:

- under 19
- under 24 & full-time student
- any age & totally and permanently disabled

Part 3 - In 2008, my child lived with me?:

- more than six months

• Workers Without Children

You must be at least age 25 and under age 65. Your earned income during 2008 must be less than $12,880 (or $15,880 for married filing jointly) and your investment income can't be more than $2,950. You can't be the dependent of another person. You must have lived in the United States for more than half of the year. If you meet these criteria, you can get up to $438.

How Do I Get My Earned Income Tax Credit?

- Workers with children, file Form 1040 or Form 1040A and attach Schedule EIC. Married workers must file a joint return to get the EIC.
- Workers without children, file Form 1040 or Form 1040A or Form 1040EZ.

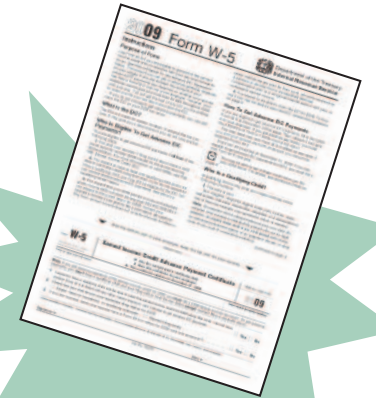

Where Do I Find The Forms?

Forms can be found at all libraries, IRS offices and VITA sites. Forms can be found at some post offices and banks or the IRS Website at <http://www.irs.gov>

You can't take the credit if you were the qualifying child of another person in 2008.

How Can I Get The Credit During The Year?

- If you have at least one qualifying child, file W-5 with your employer to get some Earned Income Tax Credit with every paycheck. File each year. This works best if you have steady work.
